Lieutenant Colonel Saye Visaka Sundar is an infantry veteran, who has seen service all across India's borders. An avid reader and writer, who shares snippets of his service experience through fascinating write-ups; he is an awardee of the Gold Medal for securing the first place in his Master's Degree Course in Defence & Strategic Studies from the University of Madras, as well as the university's medal for the Best Dissertation of 2002. The talk, which has the same topic as that of the award-winning dissertation, will deal with the nuclearization of India and Pakistan and how the world perceives it.
